

THE ANGLIAN PASS

The Anglian Pass has now been approved by all three navigation authorities' boards/users groups, based on the information provided below. Work is now progressing on the application process and Call Centre staff training. The hope is the Pass will be available for purchase in March 2021, for the start of the new boating season 01 April 2021. Further information and application information, as it becomes available, will be available at www.visitanglianwaterways.org

1.0 Background

The Environment Agency (EA), Conservators of the River Cam (CC) and the Middle Level Commissioners (MLC) have been working closely together to provide boaters with an option to navigate unrestricted across the neighbouring navigations.

In considering this new Anglian Pass the three navigation authorities have taken into consideration the following factors;

- The introduction of the Middle Level Act 2018 (the ML Act). The introduction of the ML Act has provided the MLC with the powers to levy charges for boaters on their navigations. Whilst this aids the MLC in obtaining the much sought after funding to manage their navigations, this also means, boaters in the area are subject to an additional registration charge; whether an annual registration with the MLC, or a short-term/visitor registration for boaters who are not based on MLC waters. MLC have always stated, with the introduction of the ML Act, that they intended to work with neighbouring authorities to provide an option to make moving between navigations as painless as possible.
- The expiry of the existing Cam Interchange Agreement. The current Agreement expires on the 31 March 2021. The EA and the CC have been in discussion for some time regarding a complete review of the terms of the Cam Interchange. By developing the Anglian Pass, both the CC & EA have met this requirement, in collaboration with MLC to provide a joint arrangement.
- A simple, fair and cost effective system for our boating customers and for the three navigation authorities to operate.
- The constraints of the current legislation of the navigation authorities. Some of our legislation can be restrictive in allowing the type of arrangement some may like to see.
- A review of short-term/visitor costs across the country. The costs of short-term/visitor registrations/licences, and the amount of navigation this charge covered was researched, to ensure our proposals were comparable to those across the country.

- Flexibility to allow the three navigation authorities to set their own registration charges. An arrangement linked to registration charges would mean all three navigation authorities would have to stick to the same registration charges to ensure fairness in price across all three navigations. A separate arrangement, allows the three navigation authorities to change their tariffs and charges, individually, should they choose to do so.
- Ensuring we receive the income required to provide our navigation services and maintenance. There is a requirement for Public bodies to follow the guidance in the Managing Public Money handbook and as pressure increases on funding, all navigation authorities need to ensure those who benefit from services, pay for them.
- Reduced impact on administration resources and costs. Lessons have been learnt from the administration of the Cam Interchange. The arrangement needs to take into consideration the resources of each navigation authority to administer the Anglian Pass, and the potential costs involved in issuing the Pass, whilst covering the costs of those administration functions.
- The consequences if no arrangement in place. If an arrangement cannot be agreed, then boaters will need to obtain individual short-term/visitor registrations every time they visit a neighbouring navigation authorities waters, potentially from multiple authorities at potentially considerable extra cost.
